Pond Home hosts Easter Egg Hunt

It was just after 2 p.m. on the day before Easter when Pond Home residents were happily besieged by 25 enthusiastic local children who quickly scoured the facility's dining room, living room and sun porch, collecting Easter eggs in less time that it took to hide the treasures. Even those residents who had mischievously hidden eggs in the crook of their elbow, their hands or beside them on a chair were no match for the young Easter egg hunters! Then the real fun began, when the children and their parents had the chance to socialize with their hosts, the residents of Pond Home.

To the delight of everyone the Easter Bunny took time out from his busy schedule to make a visit to the Home, taking pictures with everyone who wanted them, and giving out little prizes to each child.

"Residents helped fill eggs over the past week, enthusiastically anticipating the reaction the children would have to the big event and reliving memories of previous Easter celebrations," said Debbie Ellis, Pond Home Activities Director and coordinator of the occasion.

Two-and-a-half year old Abigail Javery, the daughter of Terri Javery, Pond Home's Director of Nursing and Assistant to the Administrator, is very familiar with the Home and all 40 residents as she has been making regular visits since she was a newborn.

"It is wonderful for Abby to have so many 'grandmas and grandpas' who enjoy watching her grow up," said Terri Javery
